We have had a super week and certainly made the most of the sunshine with girls enjoying some lessons outside. I particularly enjoyed spending some time with our youngest girls recreating the three pigs' houses out of various materials!

Thank you for your continued support and the sensible approach to helping to keep our community as safe as possible. I realise the lack of testing availability is making things rather difficult but thank you for being patient and adhering to the government guidelines.

I would also like to thank the ladies who run the second-hand uniform sales. Not only did they give up their Sunday morning so we could run the sale in the garden but they also spent hours before hand marking up all the donations and setting it all up. Thank you Mrs McEntyre, Ms Klement and Mrs Lawton!

I have a guest writer this week as Mrs Muchmore is keen to tell you all about an exciting event next week which I hope you will get involved with at home.

Have a great weekend!

Whilst being involved in a recent 'This Girl Can' webinar, I was informed that next week sees the first ever 'Great British Week of Sport', (see an introduction from the website below)

GREAT BRITISH WEEK OF SPORT

Saturday 19 – Sunday 27 September 2020

The inaugural Great British Week of Sport will inspire the nation to celebrate the power that sport and activity has on our mental, physical and social well-being.

The Great British Week of Sport runs in partnership with the European Week of Sport, showcasing the benefits of an active lifestyle across the continent. During the week we will align each day to a specific theme, to ensure a wide reach of the #BeActive message and the opportunity for a greater variety of people to take part – the week is for everyone, regardless of age, background or fitness level.

Through a mixture of virtual and physical initiatives from grassroots to elite level we hope to unite and empower towards improving the health of Britain, following the Coronavirus pandemic and play a crucial role in the nation's recovery.

The week will see us work with a few key partners dedicated to improving the health of the nation, we will engage with existing campaigns already committed to the cause with a view to reach a variety of audiences and offer a collection of ways for people to #BeActive and continue to do so beyond the week itself.

The Great British Week of Sport will offer all a great chance to promote and celebrate physical activity and sport and the power it has to bring us all together.

Knowing that these unprecedented times have affected our mental and physical well-being to varying degrees, I wanted to bring this event to everybody's attention; children, parents, grandparents and extended families alike! For more information about activities taking place throughout the week, virtually and at various centres, please refer to the website: <https://gbwos.com/>

Of particular interest to me is the #BeActive Night / This Girl Can & This Mum Moves on Saturday 26 September. It sounds like it will be a fun @ home evening with DJ's and dance workouts for all the family to enjoy.

As you know, we are great supporters of the 'This Girl Can' campaign and the opportunities it provides to promote physical activity for women of all ages and abilities. Their website <https://www.thisgirlcan.co.uk> is a fantastic place to find activities suited to every need. Moreover, the 'Disney Dance Alongs' (found in the activities' section) are fun routines for children and families to follow.

Please let us know about the activities you will be taking part in and send us photos if you are happy for us to share them on our website.

Good luck and enjoy!

Mrs M Muchmore
